"British Trade Vanishing In The Far East"

LORD ROTHERMERE PLEADS FOR ACTION

Need For Helping Hand To British Shipping

LEAVING BY FOREIGN SHIP

Lord Rothermere, British multi-millionaire newspaper magnate, is true to type. He is so much a journalist that he simply cannot take a holiday, though during his tour of the East he says he has had much more of a real holiday than ever before in his life.

Yet during this present tour of his he has been unostentatiously carrying out all manner of investigations with the result that he is not at all happy about British commercial prestige in this part of the world.

"Beyond Singapore British trade is vanishing!"

And with those words, which doubtless he visualised in headlines, the Napoleon of the British press yesterday commenced a particularly worrying statement amidst surroundings which nature had fashioned to calm the most restless of humans. But the glories of Repulse Bay were banished to give place to a less satisfying vision of feverish trade and commerce with British interests in a particularly sick condition.

Differently seared, Lord Rothermere might be referred to as Britain's Cassandra prophetic.

Amplifying his opening observation, Lord Rothermere explained, "Cotton exports are only one per cent of the 1913 figures. Two years ago Germany passed Great Britain in her exports to the markets of China and Japan and is now completely outdistancing us."

"This is proof," he declared, "that the political conditions in China are not the reason of the tragic decline in British trade with that country."

GLOOMY FORECAST
"It is welcome news that Britain is sending out Mr. William Kirkpatrick," remarked Lord Rothermere. "With his experience I am quite sure he will come to the same conclusion as mine, that unless aid on a considerable scale is given to British shipping and British trade there will be no British exports to the great markets of China and Japan in five years' time. Much of Britain's present wealth was gained in these great markets."

JAPANESE EXAMPLE
"A helping hand should immediately be given to British shipping in the Far East," he declared. The P. and O., Blue Funnel and other lines maintain admirable services but their ships lack speed. The Japanese are building a big fleet of 18 to 20 knot cargo steamers. Japanese shipping circles believe that the fast freighter will in a few years displace freighters with a speed of anything below twelve knots. They claim that the frequent voyages which the extra speed will give them will more than compensate for any extra fuel cost."

GERMANY LEADS
"The new German line here established less than a year, makes the voyage from Singapore to Marseilles in fifteen days compared with the twenty days which it takes a British line to travel the same route," commented Lord Rothermere.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTION
"But" all Lord Rothermere's criticism was not destructive or negative. He made this practical suggestion:—

"Speed to-day is the essence of ocean travel. To help to bring trade a suggestion I have heard here is that all British liners capable of twenty-five knots and cargo steamers of more than fifteen knots coming east should have their Suez Canal dues returned to them by the British Government out of the immense income which the British Government is now deriving from Lord Beaconsfield's investment in the Suez Canal sixty years ago."

Chung Yang Festival Kwangtung Defences

Large Crowd Visits The Peak

To-day is the Ninth Day of the Ninth Moon of the lunar calendar, the Chung Yang Festival, when the Chinese climb the hills and mountains under the ancient belief that this would enable them to escape calamity and bad luck.

Many will also take advantage of the opportunity to visit and worship at the graves of their ancestors or parents and relatives. The day is also observed for sweeping and repairing of graves, and other matters connected with the departed.

In Hong Kong, the Chinese will observe this festival by visiting the Victoria Peak in their hundreds as in former years, and no doubt, the Peak Tramway Company will register record takings for the day.

Fortifications And Conscription

Canton, Oct. 22.
Owing to the political tension and the importance of completing the plans for national defence, the Central Government is increasing its activities in connection with preparations for eventualities.

The Province of Kwangtung being a maritime province and exposed to the attacks of an enemy, the strengthening of its defences is of vital importance, and accordingly, the Railway Department of the Central Government has decided to increase the number of Provincial railways for communication and transport purposes in the event of troop movements.

The first line to be constructed will connect Swatow with Canton, and the next line will connect with

Mrs. A. Chanatong Passes

Wife Of Former Government
Contractor

Madame Agnes Chanatong, aged 84, wife of the late Mr. Chanatong, the well-known Government contractor, passed away on Wednesday at her residence, No. 33, Han-kow Road, Kowloon. The late Madame Chanatong had been in good health until a week ago, when she suddenly took ill.

It will be recalled that the deceased husband was a prominent Government contractor in the early days of British rule of Hong Kong. The late Mr. Chanatong's firm of contractors were responsible for the building of the Supreme Court premises, Central Market, the laying of the tram lines, etc.

Madame Chanatong's loss is mourned by her three sons and Messrs Peter, Joseph V. Chanatong and Mr. Chan Wing Fong, in addition to a large circle of relatives, to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.

The funeral took place yesterday evening at the Roman Catholic Cemetery and was very largely attended by the Chinese community.

TYPHOID

The Health Authorities notify one case of typhoid as having occurred in Victoria, during the 24 hours ended October 21. A further case of typhoid is reported from Aberdeen, and two from the New Territories, making a total of four cases.

MUFFS FOR DAY AND EVENING

We shall see large and important muffs used this season. Strands of chinchilla, ermine and mink remain one of the last luxurious muffs in dress history. Skunk has returned to favour. Any fox edgings that have been kept by may be used up. Strands of blue or red fox make delightful pillow muffs to carry with black or white evening gowns. There are all sorts of lesser skins whose value lies in the novelty and superb workmanship. Leopard's skin and squirrel can be extremely effective.

Sequined flowers are another revival. Roses and lilies in pink, white and black sequins are worn as a posy or clip and brooches to hold draperies by night.

A model of an Italian-blue woollen jumper—zip fastening at the back, with a neck edging and jabot of mother-of-pearl, pink, beige and blue sequins. It was very becoming.

Belts strike a gay note. Back from the 'nineties have come the gold and silver linked chains which often border a narrow band of dark leather or brightly coloured kid. Buckles in gilt and patent are fashioned like a horse's snaffle bridle to cheer a sombre sports suit in grey cheviot.

Red suede, embellished with black enamel, is good as a wide belt with a black wool frock. A touch of red is a seasonable favourite. It must not be too scarlet, but more the red of Virginia creeper. This colour is also a popular choice for shoes.

Narrow belts of strange furs on gold kid are smart with cloth coats. There are also belts of knitted and stitched coloured chenille. Chenille is no longer connected with old ladies' tippets and chignons. A coat or waist of coloured chenille strands looks delightful with a smart country suit. Chenille also appears as border and fringes.

Quilting belongs to a still more remote era, though of late we have seen plenty of quilting in countess' capes, cashions and curtains. Now it is to be a dressy adjunct. An evening bag of quilted velvet is mounted with jewels.

Lacquered satin in Chinese designs of black and gold, jade-green and gold, and sealing-wax red, makes formal reception gowns, dinner tunics, or tailored jackets for bridge and the cocktail hour. Luxurious brocades and tapestries are used for evening coats fitted and flared to the ground or of tunic length. New metal fabrics are in shades of copper, gold, gun-metal, and silver. Stiff slipper satin and taffetas backed velvets in dark jewel shades are also good for formal evening wear. Velvet evening wraps in deep rich shades are worn over dresses of pale or vivid contrasting colour, as when pale blue satin is shown with eggplant, flame-red with green-black, and amber with red-mahogany.

Fashion
NEWS

LONDON FASHIONS

Bustle-Waisted Coats

Great peonies, and large tarnished golden roses are used to stress the glamour of restaurant and dance frocks. Elegant coats are decked with fur in all manner of unusual ways; waists are "wasped," and long coats are skirted.

Hats rise, fall, or go to medium heights. Hair is decorated with flowers, plumes, black bows and feathers.

The redingote is seen everywhere, fitting in at the waist, generously wide collared and tailored in coarse tweed.

OUTSTANDING POINTS

Often, it has its flaring hem widely bordered with flat fur, such as nutria or astrakhan. Silver fox runs up and down coats, parking on shoulders, and carpeting them, or streaking down the front of the coat skirts.

The tweed topcoats have their swing offset by generous wide collars which have draping, to give them character. Bodices of woven outfits are fitted and high to the neck, where the swathed cravat fills in the gap.

Velvet suits have trim skirts and gay little jackets, often basqued. Plaid printed velveteens make neat little flared jackets.

Victor Stiebel's evening dresses have an altered silhouette due to draping. Sometimes an underdress in another colour follows the generous draping of the overdress. Uncrushable, peach-textured velvets are used a great deal.

Bows of self coloured material did duty as fastenings on a camel coloured outfit which had a hat of the same. A deep wine red jacket, with its saucy little pleated godet basque, went with a black dress which has hand stencilled floral patterning on the skirt hem and dress yoke in wine and rose.

Many black-face cloth coats and skirts had the little coats with flared basques of black broadtail, and matching elevated caps.

Royal blue and black was used together, a sprinkling of heather mauve outfits in woven materials, and pansy purple velvet blouses were smart with dark woollen suits.

Velvet cravats in gay shades were tucked in the necklines of coats and topcoats. A wool fringed scarf made a splash of relief on a herb-green frock at Eve Valere's.

STEEL CLIPS FOR FURS

Dark wine and plum colours were seen. Here and there the skirts of long coats were trim, and the fullness was stressed on the coats rather than on the skirts. An elegant black fox trimmed coat was oval in line, and the long collar was also of the fur.

Isobel's furs were lovely. Soft fox made a big fluffy "V" line in front, down the sleeves and on the shoulders of a rich dyed ermine coat.

A steel-grey Chinese lamb coat had steel clips to fasten its collarless front, and a muff to match.

A Spanish rust outfit had a brown sealskin loose 7-8 length coat to accompany it. An oval dipping cape-like coat was of dyed ermine in a rich chocolate shade.

Fashions Round
The Waist

Paris Belt Notions

In many of this autumn's most wearable fashions, it is the treatment of the waistline that "makes the frock," and belts tell quite an important story of their own. In Paris they have become narrow once again and of regular width all round, the average measuring not more than two inches across, while others are even narrower.

Colour novelties replace the intricate clips, metal buckles, and ornamental slides which fastened belts last season, and we are back at simple tailored effects for afternoon and evening, as well as on morning dresses. Leather-covered buckles are smarter than those in opposing media, and suede and antelope stand high in favour. Considerable progress has been made in dyeing these skins, so that the most subtle and delicate tones in the autumn colour range are now obtainable. Bright violet, the darker greens, and all the reds and browns, from strawberry and tan to dark chestnut, are good "belt colours" for the coming season.

COLOUR ACCENT

A belt may be a bright accent of colour on a dark dress, or match it if you can find the shade exactly. Quite a number of winter dresses have belts of self-fabric, with an applied "front" of vividly contrasting suede. Lelong shows a deep royal blue crepe of the dress as they adorn. Do not try suede pinked round the edges. Then there are fabric belts with suede-piped edges—raspberry or yellow piping upon black being popular favourites.

We have also the swathed belt for afternoon wear and evening. Marjorie Dunton makes these of kid and antelope skins which are as fine in texture as the heavy crepe of the dresses they adorn. Do not try swathing such belts each time you put them on—it is a long and none too easy job. Have your belt stitched in effective folds, and fastening with tiny invisible hooks on the side of the waist. Lelong makes a swathed belt of brick-coloured jersey chiffron and puts it upon an indigo blue jersey frock, while Jodelle and Lucile Paray both show blue belts swathed round the waists of black afternoon dresses.

MORE EXOTIC

Paquin sponsors the most exotic belts in Paris. They are rather Eastern in inspiration and brilliantly embroidered with beads, sequins, and coloured silks upon gold kid grounds; or they may be adorned with applications of brightly dyed kid; and they are worn upon evening gowns and afternoon dresses, or even to hold in fur coats for festive occasions.

Colourful belts are well to the fore, even if shapes have reverted to the simple.

BROADCLOTH
RETURNS TO FAVOUR

Smooth-faced materials have returned to favour. Broadcloth and duvetyne town coats lavishly trimmed with Persian lamb, Indian lamb, and broadtail are moulded to the figure and have slightly squared shoulders and widely flaring hems. The fur is used chiefly for bandings, edgings, and inverted godets which run from waist to hem. By way of contrast, there are coats which are half material and half fur, the front being entirely of broadtail and the sleeves and back of duvetyne. Other full-length coats of straight outline have detachable fur capes in Persian lamb, silver fox, and stranded skunk or mink.

Broadcloth is used for suits with short peplum jackets edged with Persian lamb. Another style has a cut-away line in front and fullness at the back. On a third a long basque gives a tunic effect. Skirts are pencil straight and shorter than last season. Dinner suits and cocktail suits in broadcloth may be cut on the lines of a man's dress coat or with high double-breasted fastenings and wide revers giving a Directoire effect. Slim skirts of broad-cloth of street length are worn with little tailored bodices of velvet or brocade with closely fitting blouses embroidered all over in sequins. These blouses or jackets may also be in metal tissues to be worn over slim skirts of velvet or slipper satin.

For day wear broadcloth when allied with Persian lamb is always black, and the same material makes high-pointed hats and cape trimmed with fur. Less formal are the zibeline cloths which bridge the gap between the boucle material of last season and these new smooth-faced materials. These are also suitable for boxy swagger suits and look best in soft greys or beiges trimmed with lynx, nutria, or grey Krimmer lamb. Slate-blue, blue-green, and many dusty grape shades are also good with grey and black flat furs, while tobacco-brown and the tortoise shell shades are allied with brown astrakhan, mink, and sable.

Broadcloth with velvet and faille makes evening dresses. A slim broadcloth skirt has a flared tunic or taffetas-velvet, finished with a scroll belt in black and gold kid. On a black dress cut on princess lines with a square décolletage and narrow shoulder straps the slim straight front is of broadcloth and the fitted back of faille with widely flaring train. A dinner dress of black velvet with a pointed neck and slightly squared shoulders has a double train of broadcloth in lacquer-red and billiard-table green. Black and colour broadcloth in violet-blue, tawny-bronze, and many wine shades makes full-length evening coats.

PARIS FASHIONS
Clothes By Lucien Lelong

Round The Shops

LANE CRAWFORDS

The latest arrivals this week are a number of very smart tailored suits from England and America.

Many models in mixed coloured English tweed, all smartly cut and in all sizes, are on show. Also a few American suits, in the latest fancy cloths, with the new blocked shoulders.

GORDONS

The Ladies' Shoe Specialist Shop have just received the smartest selection of footwear to be seen in town. Beautiful models in greens, blacks and browns, all American designs. Call in and inspect them.

MAYOS

Are showing a very fine assortment of artificial flowers, both for day suits and evening gowns.

RIVELLE

Have received a few selected fur trimmed overcoats this week and more new goods are expected to arrive very shortly.

Lucien Lelong has just shown his "robes d'edition" or ready-to-wear clothes. They include several rabbit brown tweeds flecked with red and green; there are also beige and bronze green wools. The skirts are either straight, with deeply inverted pleats back and front, or divided. The jackets have broad revers which can be buttoned high to the throat; when worn open they show a bright blouse or a folded scarf. Many of the blouses are made of brightly coloured silk or brightly knitted or crocheted wool.

For mornings and informal afternoons there are woollen dresses with coats of different lengths; they have high necklines, Claudine collars, and bright belts. Many of them are ribbed in sunray patterns about the shoulders, and the bodice fronts have cross-way ribbings or ribbings which in other ways also make them shapely. The coats of three-quarter length fit loosely and are straight across the shoulders. Long and more formal coats fit closer and have high astrakhan or beaver of fox collars. None of these coats shows the Directoire line; the long, straight line with moderately square shoulders is preferred.

Formal afternoon dresses to be worn under fur or fur-trimmed black cloth coats have skirts which are full in front and elbow-length sleeves; the materials are crepe marocain and similar crepe, either coloured or black with coloured trimmings. On the black or dark dresses colour is inset at the neck; belts are piped with colour or decorated in front with bright suede applications. One black dress has star-shaped insets of gold lamé at the neck and a lamé band round the throat, the elbow sleeves end with the same trimming. Another black dress has bright green insets. Royal blue is allied to violet-pink, and petunia purple is another colour.

For the evening Lelong now and then puts black satin and black velvet together in one dress. His black evening dresses are touched mostly with petunia purple or turquoise blue or green. The dresses, not too tight anywhere, fit the hips and fall full about the knees and feet. On some of them bands of colour trim the hem line. A black crepe marocain dress has a petunia purple crepe band; another has a bright green one. A black velvet dress has net shoulders and a net band round the skirt above the hem, which is trimmed with little Louis V bows of pale rose and lime green satin. A pale rose dress, almost white, is made of crepe satin; the dull and the shiny sides of which run in bands vertically. Chenille shoulders are put on dinner dresses with full elbow sleeves. A black crepe dress has a black velvet bodice and three-quarter cape, the high collar of which is faced with turquoise velvet. Two picture dresses are of brown and navy blue taffetas. A many-coloured coat is made of closely worked beads and sequins.

New Kinds Of Shoes

Dress materials influence fashions in shoes, which are now matched up very carefully both for day and evening to give a harmonious colour scheme. Evening shoes are now made in a great variety of dress materials and grow more ornate and intricate in design.

The fashion for lacquered satins for evening gowns has caused some of the new evening sandals to be made in hand-lacquered crepe satin, and a neat shoe of this kind has a high T-strap, with the fashionable open bands and a closed toe-cap. Gold and silver kid are used for both sandals and Court shoes for wearing with metal brocades. Silver kid in narrow bands forms a sandal linked with a narrow plait of gold kid. Gold kid with an elaborate cut-out design like a flower on the vamp makes a pretty Court shoe. Coloured metal brocades and gold and silver leather ornamented in colour are used for other sandals. Gold and silver kid are used to trim many of the handsome shoes for wearing with velvet evening gowns.

A great deal of velvet is being used this season for princess-style gowns, some of which have the slim line of the skirts slit, giving more importance to the shoes worn with them. A new shoe in black velvet with a toe-cap stitched in silver has a broad band of silver kid like a belt fastened to one side and set across the foot below the ankle. This belt is easier to wear than an ankle strap. In crimson velvet there is a pretty shoe trimmed with stripes of gold kid. Coloured satin shoes to match satin frocks have intricate trimmings of gold kid, some of which have the kid picoté in a tiny design.

There is also on both evening and day shoes a reversible strap on a swivel which can change the appearance of the shoe. On a red satin evening shoe the reverse is stitched gold kid; on a brown suede shoe trimmed with leather the reverse is crocodile, and on a navy suede court shoe the strap could be reversed in navy patent of calf. Endless variety can be achieved by this device.

Heels for evening shoes are being made slightly higher, but those who do not like the very high heel can find equally good shoes with heels to suit the balance of the foot. An open-waisted effect at the sides is being used in many shoes both for day and evening; it is becoming to the line of the foot and is also easy to wear.

More colour is being worn in day shoes owing to the habit of matching frocks and coats in accessories. Green, which until now was rarely worn in out-of-door shoes, is now a shoe colour, and dark green and dark burgundy shoes are being worn out of doors. Blue, brown, and black shoes, however, predominate. A new suede shoe for out of doors has a side fastening made like a miniature sword. Side fastenings are growing in favour and are seen also in tie shoes.

The new booties are comfortable but appear a little strange to those who have always worn shoes. They come to the ankle, and some have a lacing done on to a narrow tongue; others have a medieval cut, and others again have a cuff top that can be worn up or down. They are in suede calf, and are either plain or trimmed with patent or coloured piping. Already they are being shown in black, rust, and Gloucester-green.

LINKS FORGED

Bucharest, Oct. 21.
A further link in the chain of measures to protect Czechoslovakia from sudden attack is expected to be forged when King Carol of Rumania goes to Prague at the end of this month.
It is understood an agreement has been reached between Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia for the construction of a strategic bridge across the Danube at Turnu-Severin, linking Jugo-Slavia with Rumania, and for the building of a railway across North Rumania to Czechoslovakia by which, in the event of a sudden attack on Czechoslovakia, troops and supplies from both Rumania and Jugo-Slavia could be rushed to her aid.
It is believed the extension of the proposed railroad in the direction of the Soviet frontier is unlikely, owing to Jugo-Slavia's an-tagonism to any military alliance between the Little Entente and the Soviet.

JOINT MEETING TO BE CALLED

London, Oct. 21.
The Spanish situation and the operation of the non-intervention agreement were subjects of long discussion by the National Council of Labour to-day.

According to a statement issued at the close of the meeting, the Council was unanimous in regarding with concern, the "one-sided observance of the non-intervention agreement and the serious injury which, violation inflicted upon the Constitutional Government of Spain."

It was decided to ask for a special joint meeting of the International Federation of Trade Unions and the Labour and Socialist International, to be held in Paris at the earliest possible date.—

GERMAN REPLY RECEIVED

London, Oct. 21.
The Chairman of the International Committee, for the application of the agreement regarding non-intervention in Spain, who addressed letters on Monday to the German, Italian and Portuguese Representatives on the Committee asking them to expedite their Governments' observations on the alleged infractions of the agreement, received to-day the reply of German Government. Lord Plymouth requested the three Governments to send in their explanations in writing pursuant to the Committee's rules of procedure, so as to enable the next meeting of the Committee, to be held before end of this week.—

BRITISH LABOUR REQUEST

Debate On Spanish
Situation

London, Oct. 21.
Following to-day's meeting of the Cabinet, the Prime Minister has sent reply to the letter addressed to him on Monday by the leader of the Opposition in the Commons asking, in view of the increasing gravity of the situation arising from the alleged infractions of the agreement for non-intervention in Spain, that Parliament should be summoned immediately. Mr. Baldwin informs Mr. Attlee that he has consulted his colleagues about this request and continues, "The Government's main concern has been to see that the events in Spain do not involve hostilities over a wider area. With that object in view, they supported the initiative of French Government in setting up an International Committee.
That Committee is even now, as you mentioned in your letter, engaged in the work of investigating certain allegations which have been made. The Government are determined not only to carry out loyally their own undertaking, but also to promote in every way possible, the execution of the terms of the agreement. I do not see that the work of the Committee will be materially assisted, or the main object the Government has in view, namely the limitation of the conflict to Spain, will be vitally affected by the summoning of Parliament, at the most four or five days earlier than October 29.

At the same time I appreciate your desire to have an early discussion and I would be prepared to arrange that the debate on the situation in Spain, should take place on the day on which Parliament reassembles, namely October 29.—

LOSS OF ALLIES FEARED

Paris, Oct. 21.
Fears that the recently pronounced Franco-Soviet friendship may cost France two other allies in addition to Belgium, are being expressed in newspapers to-day in connection with the report from Bucharest that the Rumanian
Prime Minister, M. Gh. Tatarescu, gone to Belgrade on an unheralded secret mission.

His movements are believed to indicate a new Rumanian policy, particularly since France's friend,
M. Nicholas Titulescu, has dropped from the Cabinet.

Well-informed circles in Bucharest are of the opinion that Rumania and Jugo-Slavia are on the eve of a new agreement, which will embrace a policy of greater reserve towards Russia.

M. Tatarescu's visit to Belgrade is believed to have for its object the crystallisation of this agreement, thus enabling King Carol of Rumania, who is visiting Prague at the end of this month, to face
Dr. Edouard Benes, the President of Czechoslovakia, with a fait accompli which has all the earmarks of a powerful Balkan pact.—

Famous Doctors Say, No. 4

TO GET RID OF STOMACH TROUBLES

An English Doctor writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."
(Signed) Dr. H. G. —, M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble, is caused by acidity, and the reason why
'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

"BRIDES ARE LIKE THAT"

Tempestuous gales of laughter will sweep through the audience of the Queen's theatre to-day where First National's latest comedy romance "Brides are Like That" is being shown.

The picture is one of the most hilarious screen productions of the year and abounds in riotous situations, unique episodes and a most unusual plot.

It is based on the play "Apple Sauce" by Barry Conners, which was one of the hits of the stage.
The motion picture retains all the numerous angles of the original stage production and has added some more for good measure.

Ross Alexander and Anita Louise have the romantic roles, the former playing the part of a ne'er-dowell with a great gift for flattery by which he is enabled to work his way into the good graces of his townfolk, although it also gets him into plenty of trouble.

Joseph Cawthorn gives an outstanding performance in the comedy role as the uncle of the ne'er-do-well who is constantly harassed by the shortcomings of his nephew as also do Gene and Kathleen Lockhart as the parents of the girl.

There is a smashing climax to the story in which the youth who refuses to work makes a great invention which puts him in the platitude of both his uncle and the parents of the girl, whose affections he finally wrests from his rival in a most unusual situation.

"EX-MRS. BRADFORD"

For the third time in their screen careers, William Powell and Jean Arthur find romance between them blossoming under the sinister shadow of murder.

Miss Arthur is currently co-starring opposite Powell in "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," a romantic mystery drama which will be screened at the "Star Theatre" on Saturday. It is her first appearance since "The Greene Murder Case" and "The Canary Murder Case" with the star who has become the screen's foremost gentleman sleuth. Those pictures presented Powell as Philo Vance, detective extraordinary.

In "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford" Powell is again on the trail of murder.
He plays a physician who is drawn into the investigation of a race track jockey's mysterious death. Miss Arthur is seen as his divorced wife, whose principal concern is removing the "ex" from their marital status.

Eric Blone, James Gleason and Robert Armstrong are featured in support of the two stars in this RKO Radio picture.

FANG AND CLAW

Crashing the jungles with native helpers and an elephant train, capturing its prize denizens and crating them for shipment to the circuses and zoos of the world, sums up the action in Frank Buck's latest cinematic cargo of thrills, titled "Fang and Claw," showing at the "Majestic" today.

Close on Buck's trail through the dense jungles was a camera party that photographed unusual happenings month after month until the big circus and zoo orders were filled, and the cargo loaded on ship at Singapore. About 100,000 feet of movie negative was exposed. Edited to exhibition length, it is said to be more colourful and entertaining than "Bring 'Em Back Alive" or "Wild Cargo."

NEW TELEVISION DISCOVERY

Method Of Preserving Pictures

FILED FOR USE IN THE FUTURE

A demonstration of a method of filming "televized" pictures for future release by television when desired, was demonstrated at the Alexandra Palace recently. The apparatus by which this is accomplished is the Baird Intermediate Film System, states a London Journal.

One of the biggest problems the B.B.C. have to face is the high cost of good television programmes. By means of the new system repetitions of outstanding items can be given at negligible cost.
Variety of programmes will be helped by the fact that artists can be helped by the fact that artists can be recorded at hours when they could not appear in the television studios.

QUICK WORK

Scenes or persons can be filmed as for an ordinary picture and then transmitted from Alexandra Palace to television receiving screens. But whereas films for ordinary cinema screening take several hours to develop and process, the new Baird apparatus does the entire work in half a minute.

This is equivalent to taking a photograph and having a print ready practically simultaneously.

During the whole time an event is being televised, the Intermediate Film System will follow like a shadow, never quite catching up with it. In this way an actor, for example, could watch himself acting a part while continually keeping slightly ahead of what he could see himself doing on a television screen.

By means of such television
"files" events in Great Britain could be sent to the Dominions and Colonies for retransmission from local television stations.

Another obvious use to which the new system might be put is that set school lessons could be filmed beforehand and then transmitted simultaneously at regular times to classes throughout the country. In this way the same television lessons could be shown to succeeding generations of children.

"WOMEN ARE TROUBLE"

A real-life newspaper story of events behind the headlines, written by two ex-newspapermen, Michael Fessler and Richard Blake, from a short story by George Harmon Cox.

Stuart Erwin as the laconic star reporter whose strongest competitor is the girl he's in love with.
Paul Kelly as the hard-bitten city editor, torn between headlines and an alimony-seeking wife.

That is "Women Are Trouble," hilarious, fast-moving new picture is showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

The City Editor, Blaine and his star reporter, Casey, were good friends until Ruth Nolan went to work on The Star. Then the trouble began. For one thing, war between the police and a gang of post-prohibition racketeers had broken out; with the paper leading the clean-up fight.

When Ruth scooped Casey by pulling headline news from the very centre of the enemy camp, the war entered their own front yard, with both Ruth and Blaine finally getting kidnapped and sentenced by the gang's own court to death.

NO SALUTE FOR WOMEN

Marshal Graziani's insistence that at the Feast of the Mascal in Addis Ababa the Abyssinians should make their customary offer of flowers not only to the Italian officers but to the Italian women was intended to stress on native minds the importance of woman's position in the white man's civilisation.

No foreign representative has ever been able to persuade the Japanese of this.

In Tokio a foreign ambassador presenting his credentials to the Emperor, drives with his suite in Imperial coaches and is saluted by the Imperial Guard.

But if the ambassador's wife wishes to attend the ceremony, she has to drive behind the humblest male of the ambassador's staff. She is given no Imperial coach, and when she passes, the Guard stops its salute.

QUEEN MARY AT MARLBOROUGH HOUSE

Two sentries are posted at Marlborough House again for the first time for nearly twelve years. Queen Mary is in residence there, and the old house of Sarah Churchill, Duchess of Marlborough, has returned to London's high social life, writes the "Manchester Guardian," London diarist. The whole house is occupied, and a good deal of quiet, distinguished hospitality is expected
there this winter.

Queen Mary's suite includes two Ladies of the Bedchamber who are peeresses and three Women of the Bedchamber who will in turn reside at Marlborough House. The latter are Lady Victoria Forrester, Lady Cynthia Colville, and Miss Jean Bruce.

Immediately after Queen Mary arrived a string of visitors called and signed the book. The Queen's flag was hoisted on the flagpole.
Another chapter in the history of Marlborough House had begun.

CORONATION
YEAR MUSIC

The Coronation year will be notable for a period of exceptional musical activity, both in London and the provinces. That is the opinion of Mr. Harold Holt, the well-known impresario, who recently spoke of his plans for one of the busiest seasons within his long experience. "In my opinion," observed Mr. Holt, "London may be regarded to-day as the Mecca of international musical talent."
This view is supported by the fact that artists so renowned as Kreutzer, Taubert and Grace Moore will be appearing the coming season under the aegis of Mr. Holt. It is also worthy of note that Mr.
Holt has arranged for Taubert to be placed under contract with C. B.
Cochran during the spring season.
As regards the international celebrity, it is worth noting that Mr. Holt direction, a special feature is being made of the appearance of the House in New York.

Vienna Symphony Orchestra in the provinces. The conductors will be Weingartner and Oswald Kabach. Other prominent attractions will include Horowitz, Hubermar, Schnabel, Heifetz, and a quartet of brilliant stars from Covent Garden Opera.

AT COVENT GARDEN
An exceptionally attractive series of programmes by Sir Thomas Becham and the London Philharmonic Orchestra has been planned for Sunday afternoons at Covent Garden.

Mr. Holt has further arranged to introduce a number of musical prodigies of whose talent he has formed the highest opinion. These include Grisha Golubov, the celebrated boy violinist; Ida Haendel, the twelve-year-old violinist; and that brilliant young pianist, Ruth Benezynski. A special Coronation concert at the Albert Hall has been planned for 1937.

It is also worth noting that Mr. Holt has arranged for a special feature to be made of the appearance of the House in New York.

GOLDEN JUBILEE

Celebration Of Fairlea Girls' School

HISTORY REVIEWED

The Golden Jubilee of the Fairlea C. M. S. School was celebrated yesterday in dual connection with the Graduation Day of the Lower Middle and Higher Primary Schools, when Mrs. Chenns Wing Kui, the Headmistress, gave a comprehensive survey of the school's activities and growth from a small starting 50 years ago.

There was a large number of parents and friends present to join in the felicitations. Among those present were: Mr. G. R. Sayer (Director of Education) The Hon. Mr. S. W. Tso, the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. L. Martin (Headmaster of St. Stephen's Boys' College) and many others.

An interesting programme, which included the School Song, drill, and plays was enacted by the pupils, before the prize giving ceremony.

SCHOOL'S HISTORY

Addressing those present, the Headmistress said:-

To-day we are celebrating our 50th Anniversary, the Lower Middle School and the Higher Primary School Graduation Day. We are most fortunate in having Mrs. Fok Ching Shan to come to distribute the certificates for us, and in the name of the School I offer her our hearty welcome. We also thank all our friends for taking so great an interest in our welfare in coming to us this afternoon.

In 1886 our School was started by Miss Johnstone who was born in Tasmania, and her father served in the 100th Regiment which afterwards was transferred to India, where later her mother died. Her father then came to Hong Kong and Miss Johnstone accompanied him. During her childhood she was a great friend of Miss Harriet Baxter and under her influence she became an enthusiastic missionary. At first the School was situated in West End Terrace and was a Vernacular Primary School for boarders and for day girls, many of whom came from Christian homes. Later, seeing that it was such a good school, many non-Christians sent their children to be educated there. Miss Johnstone taught them the love of Christ and helped them to follow the footsteps of the ancient Saints and thus the students had an excellent teaching in forming good character. She had Miss de Jersey and Miss Eyre on the staff, and Miss Hazeland who is still teaching in St. Stephen's Girls' College helped her to teach English. At that time under this small, kind, and capable staff, both teachers and students could not but be understanding and sympathetic with each other. In 1908, owing to her illness, Miss Johnstone was obliged to say good-bye to the Colony, and returned to England, where she passed away in 1909. She was well beloved by her students and even now they still revere her memory.

MOVE MADE IN 1912

Miss Fletcher succeeded Miss Johnstone's principalship, and, following her good example, she managed the School well. In 1912, the School moved to Prospect Terrace and in 1924 shared with St. Stephen's Girls' College a new building built in West End Park, but the original site belonged to Fairlea. After Miss Fletcher's retirement, other principals succeeded her, and they all exerted their best energy in serving the school. Many old girls are now doing useful educational, medical, and Church work. Mrs. Fok Ching Shan, who has come to-day to give out the certificates is a selfless church worker and a loyal old girl of the first generation of the school. We still have many more, such as Mrs. Woo Yee Kai, Mrs. Ng Tin Po, Mrs. Chau Mon Hon, Mrs. Lee Ting Son, Mrs. Mok Sau Tsung, Dr. Katie Woo, Miss Esther Kotewall and many others in a long list. On our staff, we now have three graduates of recent times, who are Mrs. Yuen Fok Sit Woon, Miss Yung Tip Sau and Miss Kwok Wai Chan.

In 1930 we started the Lower Middle School, and in 1934 the Upper Middle School. This year we have 13 Lower Middle School graduates. The Fairlea Old Girls' Association was formed in 1934. Mrs. Lee Ting Son made the first speech and brought back recollections of Fairlea old days. It was very interesting.

50 YEARS TO REFLECT

This afternoon we have the pleasure of your presence to share with us the celebration of our Golden Jubilee; we feel that we do not deserve the honour, for reflecting on the 50 years that have passed, we feel that we have done nothing great that we can boast of, but have the comfort of knowing that we have made some improvement concerning the education of Chinese girls. All of our teachers are devoted to teaching our students who are always very interested in the subjects taught them. As usual, our students join the girls of St. Stephen's in carrying on a summer school for poor children, to teach Sunday classes, and to visit hospitals on Sundays to cheer the sick with the message of God's love. Our annual Sale of Work was a great success. The funds which we raised were allotted to different charities both outside and within the Colony, and in this way the students show that they really live up to the ideal of the following Golden Text:—"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

In February, Miss Pope returned from ruriough. Besides taking charge of the hostel, she is also teaching mathematics and other subjects. It is fortunate for both boarders and day girls to have her back in the School. Miss Hancock is still teaching English and botany to the Middle School girls twice a week. Miss King resigned and went home to England to be married. We sincerely hope that she will have a bright and happy future before her. Miss Wong Tsui Ping has been seriously ill, but is now on the road to recovery, and will be resuming teaching before long. The school owes a tremendous lot to the untiring efforts and persevering work of all members of the staff, and I take this opportunity to express thanks to them.

Two students were baptised in February and one was confirmed in March. We now have two present girls and an old girl who will be baptised very shortly. Since we opened the Upper School, we always felt that the lack of class rooms was a great drawback to the school, but fortunately we have a new plan which will enable us to move to the Kowloon new building of Heep Yunn School. You are all most cordially invited to go there to-morrow to attend the ceremony of laying a stone by His Excellency the Governor, when more details of our future plans will be notified. We shall deem it a great privilege if any of you will give us any assistance we need in our new school.

Chung Yang Festival

During the day, hundreds of men, women and children will journey the whole way up to the Peak Flagstaff on foot, bringing with them fruits, tea and cakes etc., as many will observe the day as a hiking picnic.

Others, however, who are troubled with misfortune and ill-luck, by paper kites, and cut them adrift in the fond expectation that the drifting kites will carry away all their misfortunes and bad luck.

It is natural to hope for a change for the better, so with all our troubles and worries and bad times of the world trade depression, let us hope with our Chinese friends that all "bad luck" will leave us.

ORIGIN OF THE FESTIVAL
The Chung Yang Festival means the "Double Ninth" Festival, and falls every year on the Ninth Day of the Ninth Moon.

The legend of its origin is that during the "Chow" dynasty, a certain taoist recluse of the hills warned a good and virtuous scholar named Woon King to hasten with his family to the top of a neighbouring mountain for a terrible calamity (plague) was impending. The good scholar followed the advice of his taoist friend, and hastened to climb to the top of the mountain with his wife and children.

On returning home in the evening of the day, the scholar discovered that all his cows, pigs and poultry were dead, and saw what a dread calamity he had escaped. Such is the popular story of the origin of "climbing the heights," but it must have a deeper meaning to taoists, and those who love nature, and make their "homes" in the tops of mountains.—Tse.

POPULAR BEER

25th Anniversary Of Union Brewery

MANUFACTURE OF U.B. BEER EXPLAINED

On the occasion of their 25th anniversary, the Union Brewery Limited, Shanghai, have issued an interesting booklet describing the manufacture and progress of their popular product, U.B. Beer.

Within the confines of this 30-page booklet the story is told of U.B. Beer, which, by its excellent quality, has established for itself a leading position, and is known throughout the Far East.

From a modest beginning, the Union Brewery was unable to satisfy the ever increasing demand for U.B. Beer, a demand which exceeded the capacity of the old plant. Hence the new brewery completed this year, with an annual capacity of fifty million bottles.

Profusely illustrated—on practically every page there is a picture depicting an interesting aspect of the plant—the booklet has been well produced and should command the attention of the thousands of patrons of this excellent beer.

The new Union Brewery, the largest brewery in China, is completely mechanized, and the entire process is hygienically perfect.

The illustrations show the old plant and the new plant; the bottle filling section; the power-house; brew-house; engine house; interior of the brew-house; Wort filter in the brew-house; fermenting cellar; lager cellar; steel storage-tank; beer filter; bottle-cleaning machine; bottle-filling machine; pasteurizing machine; and the familiar bottle labels are also illustrated.

"Upon completion of the Lager process," the booklet explains, "that is when the beer is ready for consumption, it is forced from the Lager cellars through a system of frame-filters consisting of forty frames, each filled with cakes of filtermass for cleaning out the last bits of yeast and bitter particles—hence the crystal clearness of U.B. Beer. After each filtering, the filtermass is thoroughly boiled and remoulded so that it is perfectly sterilized before being used again."—G.I.R.E.

DOES ANYONE
DESIRE WAR?

It was significant that during his interview with the Press yesterday, Lord Rothermere had very little to say along the lines of his very startling forecasts of another international catastrophe within a year.

As we remark in our interview published to-day, he was not in the mood for big guns. It was just as well, because when one whose position gives him practically world-wide propaganda power makes such inflammatory statements as Lord Rothermere did, millions of people are liable to honour such comments with the seriousness which should only be lavished on official statements by responsible statesmen.

It was refreshing to hear Lord Rothermere say in his interview yesterday that he was a fervent advocate for peace—as far as Britain was concerned. Perhaps our perspective is apt to become a little warped amidst the present babel of war talk. Let us analyse the position in the light of a recent pronouncement by one who is accredited with the possession of a great brain.

A timely reminder that the world is only a big crowd of ordinary folk has just flashed like a spark in the dusty alchemist laboratory of European discussion, where every element in human wisdom is being interrogated for some "philosophic stone" to turn the dull lead of international dissension into the bright gold of universal peace.

This reminder has been contributed by that imaginative futurist, Mr. H. G. Wells, at one of the numerous meetings which the British Royal Institute of International Affairs has been holding in London to consider how the League of Nations can be improved.

You are always talking of "nation" and "powers," while to me this world is incurably a collection of human beings, a collection of units, of men and women. You attach altogether too much importance to countries and powers. You are always thinking in terms of "these" political forms. They come and go like the shapes of clouds. I am quite sure that you will not get a world peace unless you cut under those formal ways of thinking and get to something much more fundamental.

Mr. Wells is quite right in thus crystallizing what Senor Ortega y Gasset has described as greater

SINO-JAPANESE
AFFAIRSJapanese Consul
Off To TokyoTO REPORT RESULT OF PARLEYS

Shanghai, Oct. 22. Mr. Y. Suma, the Japanese Consul-General at Nanjing, is leaving for Tokyo to-day to report to the Foreign Office the results of the Sino-Japanese parleys at Nanjing, which are generally believed to have reached a stalemate. The discussions have centred about the North China question and the anti-Communist pact plan, advanced by Japan.

Mr. Suma is expected to be absent for a week. Another meeting between General Chang Chun and Mr. Kuwagoe might be held before his return.

Significance is attached to the unanimity with which the Chinese press in Nanjing has criticised the Japanese proposals, which include plans for the creation of a new political alignment in the five northern provinces of China and the enlisting, by China, of Japanese aid to fight the Reds.

The newspapers also denounce the Manchukuo-North China air agreement, which provides for the operation, starting to-morrow, of an air service between the two areas, under a jointly owned company. They also object to plans to reopen the Lungyen Iron Mines and to the construction of the Tsangchow-Shihchiachwang Railway as joint Sino-Japanese enterprises.

The alleged Japanese encouragement of a Manchukuo-Mongol invasion of Suiyuan is bitterly resented by the "Hsin Min Pao."

length in his "Revolt of the Masses."

All people individually want peace. It is the herd trumpetings that stampede them into wars. Fear is the greatest of the factors making for the breaking of the peace, though greed for possessions, lust for power, craving for glory and even primitive human combativeness all contribute to the result.

Eliminate fear, be it of "encirclement" or of direct attack from other frightened crowds, and one big obstacle to peace automatically disappears. It is needless besides to build up arbitration machinery for the removal of grievances and possibly to create international police forces for the rounding up of aggressors when they break loose. Great human combinations of mutual friendship, such as already exist in the cases of the United States of America and of the British Commonwealth of Nations, can also make a valuable contribution. But even more potent than such organization is recognition of the fact that good will inspire others as well as ourselves.

Mutual kindness is a natural attribute. If it were possible to join hands, both peace and such material prosperity as has never been anywhere before, would assuredly descend upon all.

MORE ATLANTIC
LINERSImportant Additions
To Atlantic

Whatever may be the future of the "big ship" policy—liners of the Queen Mary and Normandie class—there are indications of important additions to Atlantic shipping and when in 1940 No. 552 joins the other giants there will be considerable competition from many liners of much smaller dimensions. Negotiations appear to have reached an advanced stage for the construction of two 30,000-ton liners for the recently formed Atlantic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., of which Mr. Frank Bustard is a director. Mr. Bustard's scheme is to have the tourist accommodation in these ships ranging from as low as £10 for the single voyage.

THE REX

Plans are also being made for the construction of several foreign Atlantic liners. The United States Lines, being about to place an order for a sister ship to the Washington and the Manhattan, vessels of about 24,000 tons. Some of the existing Transatlantic liners are being reconditioned, notably the Italian liner Rex (51,000 tons gross), which held the North Atlantic Blue Riband before the Normandie went into service. It is stated that the Italian owners hope to make an attempt to regain the Blue Riband from the Queen Mary, but to do that successfully the Rex would need new and much more powerful propelling machinery, and perhaps a new hull!

83,422 NOT OUT!

It would now be possible to draw a graph showing the variations in the gross tonnage of the Normandie, which has risen rapidly from 68,000 tons, when she was on the stocks, to 83,422 (plus decimal 93 to be exact) according to the latest measurement. When she went into service her gross tonnage was announced as being round about 79,000, and subsequently it was officially stated to be 82,799. Recent additions have included a new tourist lounge. It is not difficult to increase the gross tonnage of these large ships, and it would not be safe to say that the present figure (82,432.93) is the final word on the Normandie's tonnage. The corresponding figure for the Queen Mary is 80,774, according to Lloyd's Register Book, but that may also be increased by subsequent alterations.

London, October 22.

Air worthiness certificates to cover the new class of Empire flying boats which were received by the makers yesterday are reported to show a top speed of just under 200 miles an hour. The Canopus, the first of these new 174 tons Imperial Airways flying boats for service on Empire air routes will leave Rochester, Kent, to-day for the Mediterranean.

The fleet under construction comprises 28 of these liners and next year they will be used for operation of the British Government's all-malls-by-air scheme by which letters will be carried to India, Australia and Africa.

The Canopus is the first commercial aircraft to have twin decks. Her height above water is 29 feet.

The remaining liners of this class are likely to be delivered from the works at the rate of one per month.

It is stated that the performance of these boats has greatly exceeded the stipulations of the contract in regard both to time allowance for take off and fuel consumption.

NO DICTATOR FOR BRITAINSir J. Simon On Our Heritage'A FREE MAN AND A FREE STATE'

The characteristics of democracy and a reply to those who had been suggesting a "Popular Front" in Britain were the chief subjects of an address by Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, speaking at a Liberal National demonstration at Perth in support of the National Government.

Sir John pointed out that in some of the greatest countries in the world the Parliamentary system had ceased to function and dictatorships had been established states the "Morning Post."

"Whatever may be the right course for other countries," he continued, "the right course for us is to hold firm by our Parliamentary traditions and to justify to mankind the ways of modern democracy in the land of its birth."

"Let us understand what are the necessary conditions if this democratic system of ours is to give good results. It depends, first of all, on preserving as our sacred heritage the Briton's passionate belief in individual liberty in the right of everyone to hold his own opinion and to live as a free man in a free state."

"And this involves a second thing—a respect for the opinion of others and a willingness to concede freedom to others."

"Next, I would say that Parliamentary democracy depends not only on the spread of the right to vote till every adult citizen is included, but on the citizen remembering that the use of his vote is a public responsibility."

"FAIREST OF ALL SYSTEMS"—"If, as Mr. Baldwin says, Parliamentary democracy is the most difficult system to work, it is also the best and the fairest of all systems, and certainly the best for us."

"Democratic government in this country, exercised through a free-elected Legislature to which the Government of the day remain continuously responsible, will not be overthrown. We will resist all who attack it, from whatever quarter they come."

Sir John then referred to Fascists and Communists—both of whom were in favour of a dictatorship of one sort or another.

"Who is there," he asked, "at to be a dictator in this free country? Who is there the British people would accept as dictator?"

"I know of no potential dictator in England; I do not believe even Wales could produce one; and the fellow-countrymen of Robert Bruce and Robert Burns and John Knox and Jenny Geddes will no doubt be able to decide for themselves whether a dictator is likely to come out of Scotland. We are determined to give these doctrines no sort of encouragement here."

"These views, I am glad to see, are shared by the Trades Union Congress, which met at Plymouth recently when its Secretary, Sir Walter Citrine, and its newly elected President, Mr. Ernest Bevin, snote the Communists' map and thigh."

POPULAR FRONT

"Meanwhile, there is a new and particularly futile effort to embarrass the Government by the creation of what is called a 'Popular Front.' So far as I can see, the conception originated in one of two Opposition newspapers and in a minute section of Opposition Liberals."

"In this combination of discordant elements the Labour Party in voting against the provision of the necessary money for the Services."

"It is plain," he said, "that our Labour friends have begun to realise how completely action of this sort discredits them with the country, and I hope that in carrying through, as we shall, the comprehensive programme for necessary considerable increases in our defence forces, we may count on more support from the Labour Party."

YANGTZE FALLING
RAPIDLYRiver Level Lowest At Hankow Since 1891BUMPER HARVEST
AIDS SHIPPING

The irony of fate which stalks incalculably through China's economic progress is again evident in the Yangtze. While the agricultural season has been one of the best in many years, bumper harvests and production being reported throughout Central China after a succession of poor years, the water level in the river is the lowest since 1891 and is falling at the rate of a foot a day, states the "N. China Daily News."

At Hankow, the river level was 17 feet and although ordinary river shipping has not been affected, ocean vessels are being seriously inconvenienced.

Marked differences in water levels were also shown in recent readings at other river ports compared with last year. At Klu-kiang, the reading was 19.6 feet, as against 35 feet last year. At Ichang, the level was 18.5 feet, compared with last year's reading of 26.9 feet, and at Anking the depth of the river was 18.1 feet as against 32.4 feet in 1935.

Two ocean-going ships are aground up river, one, the S. Mariette, carrying iron ore, and on its way down river, being beached off Ouphan Island, and the other, a Chinese cargo steamer proceeding up river, being ashore off Collinson Island. Telegraphic information as received of a drop in the level of the river in the channel at the lower end of the Wild Boar Reach of eight feet in 13 days. The reading on October 14 was 25 feet, with the Wuhu watermark at 13.5 feet, as opposed to 39 feet. The Wuhu watermark was 19.9 feet on the first of this month.

Companies operating on the Yangtze are not disturbed by the low water levels, as the Yangtze steamer's draft is not more than about 12 feet. All companies report good business owing to the splendid season, which has resulted in bumper outputs in all lines of cotton, vegetable seeds and oils. Vessels are reaching Shanghai with capacity cargoes from Hankow where great activity is noted in this city, which taps the trade of Central China.

BIG CARGOES ARRIVE

From 1891 to 1935, a period of 44 years, the Hankow watermark has only four times been below 25 feet on October 30, so that a reading of 17 feet is exceptional. A drop in the river of one foot a day is also extremely rare. Pilots of large-draft steamers are finding their work increasingly difficult as the water level drops lower and lower and it is difficult to tell whether certain channels are safe for ocean-going steamers as the soundings are rapidly changing.

INSURGENTS GAIN THEIR OBJECTIVE

Capital's Main Western Bulwark Taken

MILITIA FLEE FROM NAVALCARNERO

Destructive Attack By Air Squadron

London, October 22.

Navalcarnero, the Spanish capital's main western bulwark, passed completely into the hands of the insurgents last evening, bringing the besieging forces into a concentric line from Illescas to Sigüenza with Escorial as the only gap.

At dawn yesterday the colonial troops directed by Colonel Varela continued the thrust along the Talavera road with Valmado as the base and Navalcarnero as their objective. They met strong resistance from the militia who had taken up strongly entrenched positions on the hillside and checked the advance of the insurgents with the withering cross-fire of machine guns, but ten squadrons of tri-engined planes arrived and bombed the Government redoubts and batteries into silence.

Four Government intercepting planes were easily brought down. The insurgents thereupon advanced and occupied their objective with little resistance, the militia retreating to Madrid.

MADRID'S HOUR IS AT HAND

It is now clear that the final assault on the capital will be made from the southwest with Illescas as the base.

General Franco expects the Government forces to retreat to Catalonia when the capital falls and there make a final defence in the newly proclaimed independent republic with Barcelona as capital.

The loss of Navalcarnero has galvanised the capital where a broadcast communique declared that Madrid's hour is at hand.

WOMEN ON MARCH

With the sound of gunfire growing nearer, thousands of women are forming processions in the streets and carrying red banners with the slogan "They shall not pass" and shouting "All men to the front!"

The women invaded Senor Caballero's office and demanded the mobilisation of the whole population for the defence of the capital. Young girls have gone out to help the militia and are entrenching themselves in the southern and western outskirts of the city where thousands of militia wait with grim determination, fortified for the time being by official reports that Government counter-attacks on the Illescas sector are meeting with success.

RETALIATORY MASSACRE

An example of retaliatory massacre which the British Foreign Secretary is trying to avert by an appeal for exchange of hostages occurred at Carthegena where all the prisoners held by the Government were summarily shot. The reprisal came an hour later in an insurgent air raid which considerably damaged the town and caused a number of casualties.

STRATEGIC POSITION

Burgos, Oct. 22. Great success has been achieved by the Nationalist troops under General Mola, who captured the strategically important village of Navalcarnero, which is barely 30 kilometres from the centre of Madrid. The Red militia who took to flight is stated to have left large quantities of war material behind.

LOSSES SLIGHT

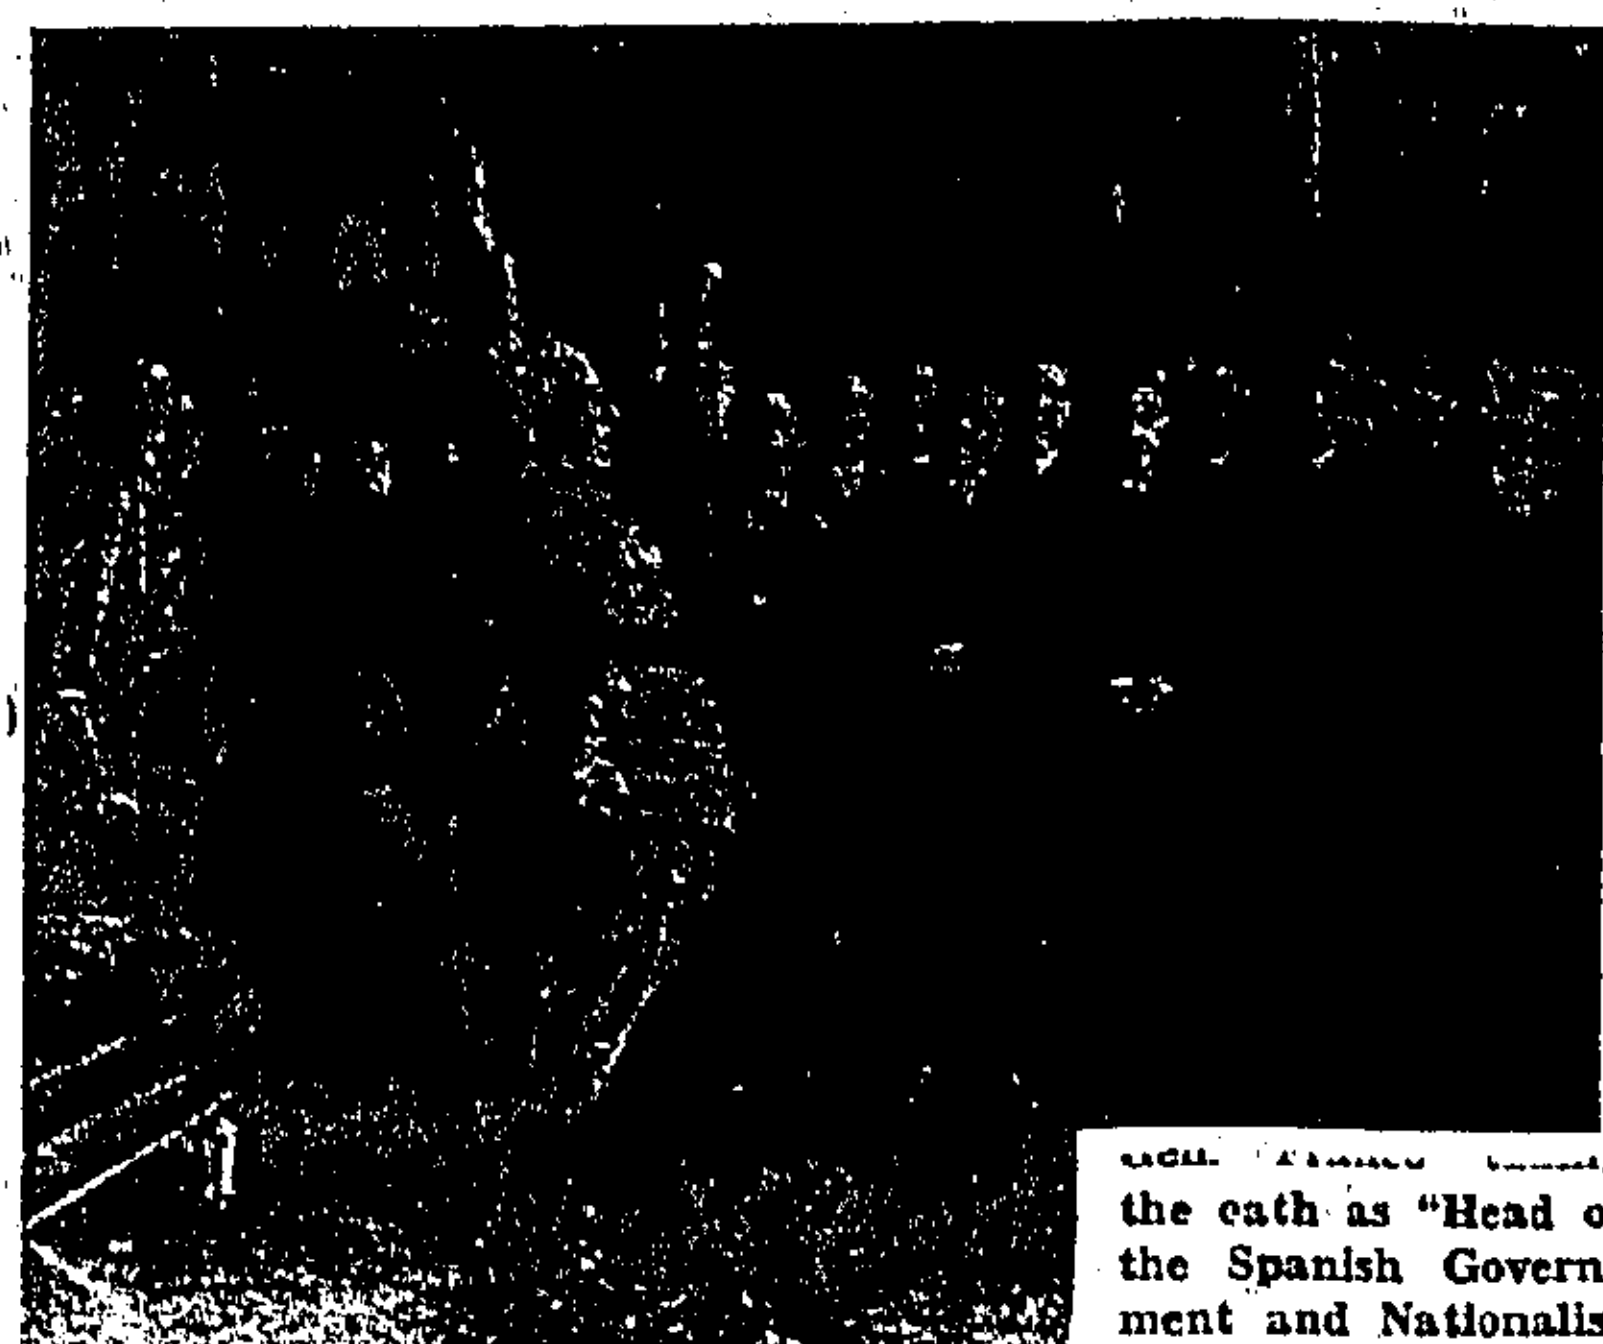

Paris, Oct. 22. The losses of the Nationalists when they captured the strategically important village of Navalcarnero is stated by General Gulepa de Llano, to be practically zero, since the Reds abandoned the village in a headlong flight. The General likewise stated that with the President of the Republic, Azana, four other Cabinet members are now in Barcelona.

KEY POSITION TAKEN

Tenerife, Oct. 21. Insurgent radio communiques claim that Navalcarnero, one of the key positions in the Madrid defences, was occupied at 3 p.m. today after a daylight attack.

GOVERNMENT CLAIMS

Madrid, Oct. 21. The Government claims that its Asturias column has cut the communications of the insurgents in

MOSCOW'S MOVE IN BARCELONA

Active Intervention Preparations

FRENCH PAPER'S ALLEGATIONS

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, Oct. 22.

The Soviet Russian "Civil War Specialist," Anatoff Aisenko, has been given plenary powers by Moscow for Spain, asserts the "Matin" in a feature article, declaring that the Soviet Union is now apparently preparing for an active intervention in Spain.

The paper's London correspondent points out that all indications make it seem true that Moscow prepares to erect a Soviet State in Barcelona with the co-operation of the Spanish Communists, and states that the supervision of this plan has been placed in the hands of the Soviet Consul General in Barcelona.

The trip of President Azana was naturally not, as the assertion in Spanish Marxist quarters had it, for military discussions, but for a preparation of transferring the seat of the Government from Madrid to Barcelona. This was a somewhat delicate question, since the Catalan Government jealously guards its newly-won independence, but this was just where the Soviet Union saw its chance to intervene in the person of Aisenko, and thus gain commanding influence in Catalonia.

BREAK WITH RUSSIA?

Paris, Oct. 22.

Referring to the recent visit to Belgrade of the Roumanian Premier and his call on the Yugoslav Premier, the "Matin" writes that the present trend of politics in Roumania and Yugoslavia is particularly interesting, since it means a definite break with Soviet Russia.

Occurring at the same moment that Belgium freed herself from foreign entanglements, the Roumanian move gave food for thought. In this connection the reshuffle of Roumania's foreign representatives was significant, since all representatives had been removed, who were in favour of co-operation with Soviet Russia.

Another point to be taken into consideration in connection with Premier Tatarescu's trip to Belgrade was the fact that Yugoslavia

EXCHANGE OF HOSTAGES

Women's Gratitude To British Navy

CHEERS FOR KING EDWARD

London, Oct. 22.

Details have now been received of exchange of women and children hostages which Dr. Junod of the International Red Cross arranged between the authorities of Burgos and the newly-established Basque Administration at Bilbao.

On the 11th of October 114 women hostages were evacuated from Bilbao to St. Jean de Luz by H.M.S. Exmouth and Dr. Junod was assisted in this work by Mr. Stevenson, British Consul, Mr. Innes, Vice-Consul, and Captain Burrough, R.N.

These women refugees displayed the utmost gratitude for the part played by the British Navy and on being taken aboard the warship raised loud cheers for King Edward.

On the 17th October, H.M.S. Esk embarked 41 children and five nurses at San Sebastian and before their departure each child was given a gift by the local Mayor at the Red Cross Institution. When they were landed at Bilbao they were received by a cheering crowd and were given a civil welcome arranged by the Mayor and Consular Corps. Dr. Junod left Bilbao in H.M.S. Escort on Saturday for St. Jean de Luz with another 100 refugees.

The local Red Cross authorities have sent a message of thanks for the help given by His Majesty's ships.

MADRID LEADERS AT VARIANCE

Insurgent Reports

Bahaz, Oct. 21.

Statements alleging dissension among the Government leaders in Madrid are being broadcast by radio from Seville. It is asserted that violent arguments are proceeding between Senor L. Caballero, the Communist leader, who wants to defend the capital, and Senor Indalecio Prieto, leader of the Socialist Party, who wishes to retreat.

Considerable nervousness prevails in the capital, it is announced, the population staging demonstrations every time bodies of routed militiamen arrive back in the city.

The Seville station adds that the impression is that Madrid's end is very near and that after its fall resistance will be transferred to Catalonia, which will pay with its ruin for the liberties granted it by Madrid.

NEUTRALITY IN SPAIN

Soviet And Spanish Charges

FIRM DENIAL BY GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 21.

Germany, replying to the accusations made before the Spanish Non-Intervention Agreement Committee in London, to the effect that she had allowed war materials from Germany to be supplied to the Spanish insurgents, in a communique issued to-day describes these allegations as completely without foundation.

Germany rejects the Russian and Spanish charges with the utmost firmness, the communique asserts.

At the same time the German Government has communicated to the Non-Intervention Committee a long list of cases based on comprehensive material in its possession. In the note to the Committee Germany declares the arms embargo has been flagrantly violated by Russia.

BERLIN PRESS COMMENT

Berlin, Oct. 22.

Commenting on the German "No" to the non-intervention Committee's note, the "Voelkischer Beobachter" writes:

"We can only attest Litvinov, that his actions and the actions of his diplomatic agent in the non-intervention committee has largely helped to clarify the political situation in Europe. It has certainly also contributed to unmask Bolshevik policy. The discussions on the committee no less than the notes of the various countries represented thereon clearly prove that Soviet Russia has never kept the neutrality agreement."

The "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" says: "The same Soviet Russian Government which dared make officially lying assertions about other Governments daily and openly violates itself the principles of the non-intervention conference."

BRITISH SHIPPING DEFENDED

NEW ZEALAND STRIKES FIRST BLOW

Legislation Against Unfair Competition

Wellington, October 22.

New Zealand is striking the first blow in defence of British shipping against foreign competition in a bill which passed its first reading in the House of Representatives to protect British shipping between Australia and New Zealand.

Mr. Fraser, Minister of Marine, emphasised that Australia fully supports New Zealand and will shortly enact similar legislation, while the British Government has no objections.

RETALIATORY MEASURES

The bill authorises the Government at its own discretion to impose restrictions and prohibitions on ships of a foreign country whose laws prohibit British ships carrying passengers and goods between its ports, or between itself, and its territories, or which imposes restrictions on British ships, inapplicable to own ships, or confers subsidies and privileges enabling ships to compete, on unequal terms with British shipping.

An Order in Council will make it illegal for ships of that country to transport passengers or goods across the Tasman Sea.

An exception will be made as regards long distance through passengers.

Drastic penalties are provided including detention of the ship, a £10 fine for each passenger, and collective fines on the master and owner.

The United States Government will be allowed to make suggestions before the bill operates.

SPANISH SITUATION DEBATE

Premier Reports To Labour

London, Oct. 21.

The immediate assembly of Parliament, as requested by the Labour leader, Mr. Clement Attlee, is understood to have been considered at this morning's meeting of the Cabinet. The Ministers were of the opinion that no useful purpose would be served by granting the request.

The Cabinet's refusal of his request was conveyed to Mr. Attlee in a letter written by the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin. In it the Prime Minister says that the Spanish Non-Intervention Committee is now investigating certain allegations and that the work of the committee would not be materially assisted or the limitation of the Spanish conflict vitally affected by the summoning of Parliament four or five days earlier.

However, he has informed the Leader of the Opposition that he is prepared to arrange a debate on the Spanish situation on October 29, the day that Parliament reassembles.

FOREIGN POLICY OF FRANCE

Fire Of Question From Deputies

PACT WITH RUSSIA EXPLAINED

Paris, Oct. 21.

Questioned at to-day's meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, with regard to France's position if Russia withdraws from the International Non-Intervention Agreement, M. Yves Delbos, the Foreign Minister, declared that the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact became operative only if Russian territory were attacked, and there was at present no suggestion of this danger.

M. Delbos pointed out that the Franco-Russian pact was within the framework of the League of Nations and that any question of aggression, for this reason, would have to be threatened out by the League before France could determine upon a policy.

Asked what would happen if Russia intervened in the Spanish civil war on behalf of Madrid or Barcelona, and if a dispute arose between the Soviet and certain Central European powers, M. Delbos answered that each of the contracting parties to the Franco-Russian pact retained the liberty to determine exactly what constituted aggression; thus eventual assistance was in nowise automatic.

Replying to questions as to what would happen if Madrid fell and Catalonia appealed to France for assistance, M. Delbos declared France would do nothing without consulting Great Britain and the other non-interventionist powers.

SERIOUS UPHEAVAL IN RUSSIA

Alleged Arrests And Executions

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Warsaw, Oct. 22.

That a serious upheaval is now going on in Soviet Russia appears to be indicated by the press reports received here from the country, which declare that the news received comes from "thoroughly reliable sources."

According to one of these reports a number of Ukrainians have been executed by firing squads in Soviet Russia, where these Ukrainians recently fled from western Poland. The majority of the executed men are said to have carried out propaganda on behalf of Poland in the Soviet Union.

It is also stated that a number of high army and Government, as well as party officials, have been arrested in the Soviet Russian Far East. The apprehended persons include all officials of the various shipping lines, and adherents of Marshal Blucher-Galkin. There are even certain indications that Marshal Blucher is planning to declare himself independent of Moscow, and men of the garrison in the Far East are said to be backing the Marshal.

HAMMOND'S SECOND CENTURY

M.C.C. Score 420
For Six

Perth, Oct. 22.
A fine knock for 107 by Walter Hammond—his second century of the tour—was the feature of the opening day's play of the match between the M.C.C. and a combined Australian XI. Hammond had been disposed of by tea time when the score was 280 for 3.
At close of play the M.C.C. score had reached 420 for 6 wickets.
With Robins and Duckworth staying out owing to injuries, the M.C.C. had to do without a third player, Ames not playing owing to indisposition. He is suffering from a slight stiffness in his back which, however, is not serious. Fagg carried out the duties of wicket-keeper.

COMMENT ON PLAY

Perth, Oct. 22.
A crowd of 3,000 attended in sunny weather the opening of the match.

Grimmett held no terrors for the M.C.C. batsmen and his only success was against Wyatt whom he despatched l.b.w. for 27.

Hammond in making 107 made some powerful drives to the off boundary. He reached his century in 98 minutes with hectic hitting and was out 20 minutes later in attempting a sixer. His score included three over the field and 13 boundaries.

Worthington, 89, played a restrained game, giving a polished and faultless display for nearly two and a half hours during which he drove 15 boundaries. With Hammond he added 148 for the third wicket.

Fishlock, 91 not out, was exuberant with his straight driving and leg strokes. He reached his 50 in 56 minutes. So far he has four sixes and 11 boundary hits to his credit.

Road Badly Lit.

An inquest opened at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday into the circumstances attending the death of an unknown Chinese girl, aged about 10 years, who was knocked down by a car in Nathan Road near Soy Street on September 12. It was revealed that the moment of impact, the car's lights had been dimmed on the face of on-coming traffic.

Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen sat as Coroner, and was assisted by the following jury: Messrs. G.W. Tate, Chan Yui Man, and Lam Kwan. The driver of the car, Mr. Jerome E. Law, of No. 119 Tai Po Road stated in evidence that the accident occurred in the space of a few minutes. The road was badly lit. He stopped his car immediately and only then did he ascertain that he had knocked down a little girl.

He went at once to a nearby garage to telephone for an ambulance, but unable to read a Chinese directory, he rushed back and found Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham, inspecting the child.

The child was taken to the Kowloon Hospital in Mr. Law's car, where she was examined and life was found to be extinct.

The enquiry was adjourned till this afternoon, when Dr. G.H. Henry will give medical evidence.

K.O.Y.L.I. POLO CUP FINAL

Civilians Defeat
Fusiliers

SPLENDID MATCH

The Civilians won the K.O.Y.L.I. Polo Cup yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Royal Welch Fusiliers by three goals to two in the final of the tournament.

The game was witnessed by a far crowd which included His Excellency the General Officer Commanding, Major General A. W. Bartholomew. His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, and Lady MacGregor, the Hon. Mr. W. H. Bell and Mrs. Bell, Brigadier H. G. Seth-Smith, Lieut.-Col. H. B. L. Dowling, Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K. C., Mrs. W. T. Stanton, Lieut. the Hon. G. R. Clegg-Hill and Mrs. Clegg-Hill and many others.

Capt. G. S. Fizzle and Major Murphy umpired the match. The teams lined up as follows:—Civilians:—No. 1. W. T. Stanton; No. 2. B. E. Felden; No. 3. J. J. Palmer; Back, D. L. Newbigging.

Royal Welch Fusiliers:—No. 1. Lieut. R. C. M. Kelly; No. 2. Capt. W. P. Kenyon; No. 3. Lieut. E. C. Parker-Jervis; Back, Lieut. N. R. G. Bosanquet.

In the first chukka, the Civilians were early attacking and missed an open goal. Following midfield play, Palmer put the Civilians ahead with a splendid shot. Shortly after Stanton shot wide. Gaining possession of the ball on the right, Felden scored with a cross shot the ball striking the inside of the post.

FELDEN'S FINE GOAL

The second chukka saw Newbigging take a long shot but he was unsuccessful. Kelly put in some good clearing and coped well with the Civilians' attack. Felden going down the field on his own just missed scoring after a wonderful effort. Eventually Felden scored the Civilians' third goal with a shot from a distance of about 60 yards. Newbigging cut across Kenyon and the Fusiliers were awarded a penalty, just at the close of this chukka.

The penalty was taken in the third chukka and Parker-Jervis scored. Felden took the ball well up the field and passed to Stanton who only just missed with a neat backhand shot. There was considerable miffing at this stage of the game, the military players more so than their opponents. It was mainly through the fault that the Fusiliers failed to increase their score.

The fourth and last chukka found the Fusiliers attacking but Newbigging was very safe. Both Bosanquet and Parker-Jervis made unsuccessful attempts to score but shortly before the end, Parker-Jervis gave the Fusiliers their second goal just after Kelly had failed.

The best player on view was Felden who gave a splendid display.

CUP PRESENTED

At the conclusion of the game, Brigadier Seth-Smith, in calling upon Mrs. Stanton to present the K.O.Y.L.I. cup to the Civilians and a silver tankard to each member of the team, expressed thanks on behalf of the Chairman and Committee of the Polo Club to Mr. and Mrs. Stanton for the "At Home" they had provided. He also congratulated the winners.

Mrs. Stanton was the recipient of a bouquet of African daisies.

Three hearty cheers and a "tiger" for Mrs. Stanton on the call of Brigadier Seth-Smith, met with hearty response.

WOMEN HOCKEY PLAYERS

Food Test

At lunch-time in a large office in London, 22 girls sit down to a meal of wholesome sandwiches and half-pint bottles of milk. They are members of the two hockey teams attached to the firm, stated the "Morning Post."

It was the idea of the senior partner's secretary (a former hockey player and now an umpire), because, on investigation the cause of a lamentable "falling away" in the second half of their games, she found that scanty meals—such as the "coffee-and-bun" habit—were largely responsible for the players' lack of stamina.

The story is told in the October issue of "Women's Hockey," a bright, monthly magazine edited by Miss Marjorie Pollard.

The senior partner's secretary tells how she asked three of the players to see her in her office—and the interviews contain a moral for office workers who play any strenuous games in their leisure time.

"FLOPPED" IN A CHAIR

The secretary writes: "I explained my concern and, I think, made myself clear. I said, 'Now you work until 12 o'clock. You dash out to Morden (shall we say?) you play hockey hard, and you "flop" in a chair on Saturday evening?'"

"'Y-e-s-s—doubtfully."

"Now, what do you eat before the game?"

"I have coffee (alleged) and a bun before I go to the station."

"No. 2 was very sophisticated—very cheerful and very pretty (cosmetics, hair and nails must cost her a bit; but it's her money and she can do what she likes with it). Questions were repeated. 'Well,' said she, smiling, 'Sometimes I have a cigarette—a Gin-and-It—or a glass of sherry and some biscuits. Well, no, I don't flop on Saturday nights—I have a "bracer," and generally go on to a dance."

"I was out of my depth, and I hoped the child would live and flourish on such a diet. She was honest, anyway, and I liked her for it."

"The third was a centre-half and a good player. She brought sandwiches from home and got a cup of coffee at the station."

"So I was right. The reason for falling off in the second half was food, or lack of sustaining food."

"We talked the matter over one night after the office closed. Even my lady 'bracer' stayed, changing into a gown meanwhile, and we decided that—"

"A. We would eat more on Saturday lunch-time;

"B. That we would give up that coffee-and-bun habit (which I found was most popular)."

So now the secretary organises the office lunch, which is at present in the nature of an experiment. The sandwiches are made with meat extract, ham or tongue, with plenty of butter and brown bread.

Will this give the extra stamina required in the last ten minutes of the game?

Conduct

ANOTHER SEVERELY CENSURED

A sequel to the disorderly conduct of a player which occurred in the Central British Association Argonauts "B" game of hockey, played on Sunday morning on the Club ground, at King's Park, was enacted when the Executive Committee of the Mamak Tournament 1936-37, yesterday suspended P. Xavier of the Argonauts, for the rest of the season, at an emergency meeting called at St. Andrew's Church Hall.

A. S. Xavier, captain of the Argonauts "B" eleven who was also sent off the field by Mr. J. W. Dove (referee) for alleged interference between his brother (P. Xavier) and Mr. Dove, was severely censured for his behaviour. He will, however, be permitted to take part in the future games in the tournament.

It was stated at the meeting that the Hon. Secretary of the Hong Kong Hockey Association, would be notified of the decisions arrived at by the meeting.

Those who attended were: Capt. G. W. P. Kimm (Chairman), Messrs. N. A. E. Mackay, A. E. P. Guest, A. F. Austin, W. A. Reed, and E. J. Marques.

Punjabis Inflict Defeat On R.E.

A very evenly contested hockey match was witnessed at the Marina ground yesterday when the Punjabis beat the Royal Engineers by 4 goals to 2.

Lal Singh, the brilliant Colony Interporter, was in form on the left wing, but he was too well marked by Lt. Douglas to be dangerous. Mohd. Afsar, the centre forward, was also prominent for the winners and scored two of his side's four goals. Alaf Din, the Army centre half, was conspicuous, his deadly stickwork and keen eye smothering many of the Sappers' attacks. His distribution was all that could be desired and he kept his forwards constantly on the move with neat passes.

For the Sappers, Howlett in goal was safe, while the two backs played sterling games.

Their most dangerous forward was Corner, at left wing, and it was from this flank that most of their dangerous moves originated. This wing was responsible for the two goals netted.

The scorers were:—Royal Engineers, Boyling, Woolgar, Punjabis, Mohd. Afsar (2), Gurbachan Singh, and Alaf Din.

FLYING OVER

When an airman takes to the saddle it is only to be expected that he should make things fly. Here is Squadron-Leader Anderson flying over on "Glorious Star" at the Gymkhana.

Club hockey eleven drew with the Argonauts side, after an exciting game, one goal all, in the Knock-out Tournament run under the auspices of the Hong Kong Hockey Association.

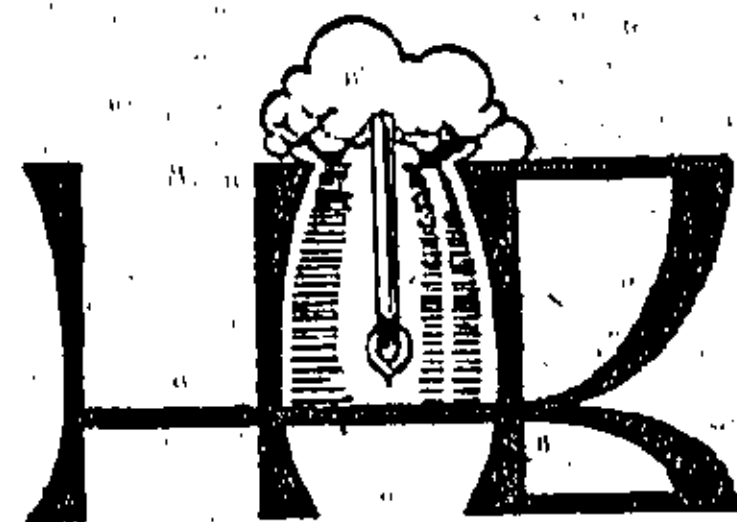

Outstanding for the K.I.T.C. was Pinto, Interport forward who was responsible for his side's sole point when he accepted an opportunity presented by B. Gosano who mishit in clearing. Pinto dashed through on his own and sent in a rasper which had the goalie beaten all the way. This occurred midway through the initial half.

Shortly before the half-time whistle blew, F. Nolasco (Argonau-tas) had a magnificent chance to equalise when he was presented with an unguarded citadel, but instead hit the ball over the bar!

Early on resumption of play, Nolasco was again in the picture when he netted, but the goal was disallowed as, apparently no one was positive that the shot had entered the goal. Eventually Nolasco found the net and the point was allowed although the defence made strenuous objections as they claimed the hit was made outside the "dec."

B. Gosano was the outstanding player in the Argonauts' defence, while Nolasco caught the eye at forward.

CONGRATULATIONS to every man and woman

They've escaped the most common complaint of civilised people—a shortage of minerals in the body. Teeth were meant to last a lifetime, hair to retain its colour and luxuriance, and the heart and nervous system should give carefree service for three-score years and ten.

But teeth, hair, nerves and muscles depend for well-being on the millions of cells of which the body is made up. These cells must have plenty of minerals to keep them strong; any shortage weakens them and you soon feel the effect in every organ of your body. Kalzana supplies the body with all the minerals it requires, in an easily absorbed form. Therefore, the effects of Kalzana are quickly felt in increased vitality, better appetite, soothed nerves. HOME SOCCER BATTLE

Scottish League
Defeated

London, Oct. 21.

Some 25,000 spectators saw the English Football League representative team defeat the Scottish League by two clear goals at Everton to-day.

Smith of Kilmarnock replaced Simpson in the Scottish side, otherwise the teams lined up as advertised.

Scotland won the toss, but the Englishmen were aggressive in the opening minutes and the Scottish goal had some narrow escapes.

It was saved from falling by the backs when Dixie Lean headed in and all but scored.

In the 15th minute Westwood was brought down in the penalty area and Bastin of the Arsenal scored from the resultant kick.

Twenty minutes later, Westwood, while harassed by two opponents, flicked a square pass across from Bastin into the net.

The England players were faster on the ball and deserved their 2-0 lead at the interval.

The second half opened in thrilling manner, both goalkeepers throwing themselves full length to make daring saves. Then Male of the Arsenal headed out of goal with Holderoff out of position, and in response to this narrow escape, Bastin took the ball down and hit the cross-bar with a fiery shot.

A misunderstanding between the Scottish backs let in Richardson, but the Englishman shot straight against the goalkeeper.

Towards the close the Scots had more of the game than their opponents, who appeared satisfied to rest on their laurels.

Government's New Campaign In
This Direction

London, Oct. 21.

The President of the Board of Education in a speech at the opening to-day of the New Central School for 1,000 children designed on modern lines, and occupying over sixteen acres, referred to the Government's new campaign for physical fitness.

He said the Board of Education was determined to give every possible assistance and encouragement to the campaign, and "instanced the spacious grounds and playing fields and excellent gymnasium equipment of the new school as evidence of what had been, and was being done already. The foundation of any scheme for physical education in Great Britain must be the school."

The test of success would be how far children after leaving school wanted to continue the recreative and physical exercise, for the British tradition was one of voluntary action and it would be no use their imitating the example of countries with the ideology of state control.

CIVILIANS v. NAVY

The other game in the Lai Wah Cup series, will be played on the Kowloon ground, Chatham Road, between the Civilians and the Royal Navy. With the arrival of many ships of the Senior Service in Hong Kong from the North, the Navy side will be materially strengthened, and therefore it is safe to predict an open game.

The Civilians are however, stated to be favourites.

The game will be refereed by Mr. W. Reynolds.

Both matches commence at 4 p.m. sharp.

CRICKET

Soldiers And Schoolboys In Drawn Match

The school bowling was severely punished, 198 being scored in just under two hours, Lt. Clegg-Hill, the interporter, making some powerful hits.

A very good reply was made at the beginning of the school's innings, Lay and Prata putting up 50 for the first wicket in half an hour, but then, following an unfortunate run out, the side collapsed badly, and 9 wickets were drawn for 68.

With 20 minutes to play, the last pair, Fisher and Matthews batted excellently and succeeded in playing out time and drawing the match.

SCORES

Fusiliers:—198 for 3 wickets (Fus. Dennis not out 49, Lt. Prichard 41, Corporal Jackson 40, Lt. Clegg-Hill not out 38, Fisher 2, for 25).
D.B.S.:—84 for 9 wickets (F. Lay 27, A. Prata 22, E. Fisher 18 not out, Lt. Prichard 5 for 39).

FRIENDLY GAME

The following will represent the Hong Kong C.C. 2nd XI in a friendly game against the Hong Kong University 2nd XI to-morrow on the H.K.C.C. ground:—
A. K. Mackenzie (Capt.), G. Agnew, E. Bathurst, V. C. Bond, F. A. Dunnett, I. S. Forbes, N. P. Fox, C. E. Gahagan, L. B. Holden, H. M. M. King, W. Wooding.

WRESTLING BOUT

Chinese Champion To Meet Filipino

TO-MORROW AT CANTON

To-morrow night at 8 p.m., in Canton, Wong Bok-cheung, the Chinese wrestling champion, will meet Young Aguinaldo, the Filipino exponent, in a six round American catch - as - catch - can wrestling bout, at the East Parade grounds arena.

Proceeds, we have been informed, are to go to further the funds which will purchase aeroplanes for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on his birthday next week.

The wrestling bout has been arranged under the auspices of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and tickets are priced at ten dollars, five dollars, one dollar and sixty cents.

It is expected that a large crowd will be present, and, in anticipation of this, the management have made arrangements for the flood-lighting of the arena which seats 6,000, with special lights.

Adequate police arrangements have been made by the Department of Public Safety.

SPORTS PROMOTER CHARGED

Paris, Oct. 20.

Jeff Dickson, British sports promoter, was charged at the Correctional Court here to-day with the theft of documents from the desk of the former Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Palais des Sports, Pierre Balluteau, who died on September 23, 1933.

Dickson pleaded not guilty and indignantly denied any connection with the matter. Judgment will be delivered next week.

The prosecution alleged that the documents missing were Balluteau's will, private account book, receipt for advances to the Company and a private letter to be handed to his widow in case of his death.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Favourable results have marked the activities of the properties under the management of Marsman and Company in the Paracale-Mambulao district during the past month, according to J. B. Stapler, manager of the southern division of the company, who is now in Manila on his regular monthly trip to confer with other officials of the Marsman interests.

Outstanding features of Mr. Stapler's statement are: the decision of the United Paracale Mining Company heads to increase the mill capacity from 330 to 480 tons a day; because of the new ore bodies recently developed; an announcement that a new up-to-date dredger will be purchased by Coco Grove, Inc.; the discovery of new veins at San Mauricio which will add considerably to the ore reserves of that company; the start-up of exploration work at two new properties recently put under contract to Marsman and Company.

Gold production at each of the three Marsman-managed properties in this district will be higher than it was for August, Mr. Stapler said.

UNITED PARACALE

Mine development results have been so satisfactory that the directors have been advised to approve the construction of a third mill section which will increase the mill capacity to 260 tons of sulphide ore a day and 200 tons of oxide ore. Orders have been prepared for the machinery and equipment necessary for this new section and they will be placed as soon as the directors formally approve the expansion.

This new unit will be in operation early in 1937, according to present plans.

MINE DEVELOPMENT

Development on the Baluarte 200 level, both north and south, is opening good widths above the average grade of ore. The 105 drift south on the San Antonio vein is extending the lateral extent of the No. 2 ore body, which

GERMAN ECONOMIC POLICY

Berlin, Oct. 20.

What is regarded as a sign that Germany economic policy is being increasingly capitalistic and another victory for his school of thought, is afforded in the announcement that Herr Wilhelm Keppler, Nazi adviser to Herr Adolf Hitler, has been removed from his post.

He will be given new duties by General Herman Goerring, the man in whose hands Germany's great industrial and economic Four Year Plan has been deposited, and towards the achievement of which the entire forces of the nation are being mobilized.

Herr Keppler belongs to the Radical Wing of the Nazi Party, which favours a measure of state socialism.

RUBBER SCARCITY IN GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 20.
Natural and artificial rubber are becoming somewhat scarce in Germany and further restriction of the sale of rubber motor car tyres has been imposed by the rubber control authorities.
Manufacturers must keep at the disposal of the authorities a certain number of tyres for "urgent requirements," which is interpreted as an obligation to keep reserves for military purposes.
Tyre repair shops are unable to secure sufficient rubber for carrying out ordinary repairs, even if they are prepared to use the expensive artificial material—

POSTAL RECEIPTS INCREASE

The steady progress of national recovery is well illustrated by the postal receipts, which with the three exceptions only, have been higher than in corresponding month the year earlier, for each month since the end of 1932.
The increase in September compared with September, 1935, was 5.1 percent and the three preceding months each showed an "increase of 5.2 percent, compared with the corresponding month of last year—

TIN CONTROL AGREEMENT

Siam's Unyielding Attitude

London, Oct. 21.
There is no surprise in tin circles at the failure of to-day's meeting of the International Tin Committee to disclose any new developments in the negotiations for a production agreement with Siam.
A wide diversity of opinion exists, however, as to what may be announced at the meeting of November 5. Some quarters persist in their belief that an agreement will be reached, reiterating the opinion that Siam has everything to gain and nothing to lose by holding out to the bitter end, substantiating their argument by pointing out that the price of the metal held up well after to-day's news was published.
On the other hand, others hold the opinion that the meeting of November 5 will see production restriction blow up, accompanied by the traditional fireworks, straggling that they place a bearing interpretation on the fact that another meeting of the I.T.C. has been set for only a fortnight away.
There is another factor which it is felt renders the position more difficult. It is that the Netherlands East Indies producers are adamant against concessions to Siam since the gulder's devaluation, as they are now in a position to compete in the open market, and profitably, at a price as low as $120.—

EXPENDITURE ON RAILWAYS

London, Oct. 21.
The Southern Railway have decided to spend a million pounds on the continuation of its outer suburban system as far as Reading, and at the same time to complete the electrification of the various smaller sections in the Alderhot and Guildford areas. It is hoped that the work will be finished in 1939—

It is reported that General Yu Han-mow, Pacification Commissioner, is making arrangements with the military authorities of Kwangsi and Fukien Provinces for union and co-operation in measures for the defence of these three provinces of South China.

The Civil Governor-General Wang Mo-chung is also co-operating in making arrangements for policing and local protection by means of the newly created Peace Preservation Corps.
